Birth of a Brand: The story of marketing at M&S

Synopsis:
The M&S Company Archive was created to celebrate the 100th birthday of Marks & Spencer in 1984. Today the archive contains more than 70,000 items from the last 128 years of M&S history including photographs, films, clothing, food packaging and merchandise.

Through a tour of the archive and a session led by Katharine Carter this seminar will explore the story of marketing at M&S from the days of the Penny Bazaar to the present day.

Biography:
Katharine Carter:
Katharine is a professionally qualified archivist with over seventeen years’ experience within the archive sector. She manages the M&S Company Archive, which opened in March 2012, and believes that the range and richness of the M&S archive collection has something to engage and inspire everyone.
