Conversational Arabic
Dr Samar Al-Afandi

Have you learnt some Arabic but don’t have anybody to practice speaking it with? Perhaps you used to speak some Arabic but it’s a bit rusty now and you’re keen to regain your language skills? If so, this six-week course for people who can already converse in Arabic at a basic level could be for you.

The interactive course will provide an opportunity to increase your ability to have an everyday social conversation in Arabic about familiar topics, such as introducing yourself, friends and family, describing where you live, talking about the weather, food and drink. In addition, this course will enhance your understanding of basic grammatical structures and introduce you to some aspects of Arab culture. Teaching methods will include formal instruction, group work and role plays.

If you would like to discuss if this is the right course for you please contact the course tutor Dr Samar Al-Afandi on 0113 343 3188 / s.al-afandi@leeds.ac.uk and she will be happy to advise you.

Start date: Tuesday 4 June and running every Tuesday for six weeks

End date: Tuesday 9 July

Time: 6.00 – 8.00pm
